LIVES ENDANGERED
BY RUNAWAY

A most spectacular runaway, which endangered the lives of several people and threatened the destruction of much property, took place near Twenty-second and Washington late yesterday afternoon, when a team belonging to Cardon Brothers & Company, a grocery firm at Five Points, came crashing directly through the double doors of the Tabernacle pharmacy, at the southwest corner of the street intersection.

The frightened horses veered to one side just in time to clear the running squares through the entrance, but the impact tore one of the screen doors from its hinges. A small boy standing in front of the entrance ran inside barely in time to escape being struck. The team was hitched to a delivery wagon and a short distance north of Twenty-second street a strap broke, allowing the neckyoke to drop from one of the horses. This frightened the animals and started them on their wild dash. The driver and a boy companion were thrown out, but neither sustained serious injuries.

With one side of the neckyoke loose the horses were pulled to the right and they ran up onto the sidewalk. The drug store has a corner entrance and the animals were making straight for the double doors, when one of them slipped on the smooth concrete and fell. The whole outfit skidded along the broad sidewalk, horses waded and all landing in a tangled mass in the gutter. The horses sustained a few cuts and bruises.

This accident occurred about 4 o'clock, and a few hours later there was a very similar runaway on Twenty-fourth street, between Washington and Hudson. A horse belonging to the Ogden Feed company became frightened and ran into a vehicle standing in front of the Globe saloon. The horse eventually landed on the sidewalk, and after kicking a bicycle taking all into consideration he could have done much worse.

In addition to offering the 35 per cent Manager Cooley declared that all of the games must be played at Salt Lake, adding that the Ogden games could be arranged for later. Which would mean that there would be no games between the two teams on the local lot. This, he declared in the message, was positively his best offer and requested an immediate decision from this end of the line. He got it.

By his offer it has been made very evident to the members of the Ogden team that Manager Cooley is not overburdened with generosity. It is also quite evident that the Salt Lake manager is not overlooking Cooley in his prospective arrangements for the series.

Supposing that 15 per cent of the gross receipts from the five games were allotted to the Salt Lake manager for the use of his ball park. This would be a liberal slice and would be practically all velvet for Cooley. Then allowing 25 per cent to the Salt Lake players and 35 per cent to the Ogden players, there would still be left another check 15 per cent for Cooley. Taking all into consideration he could have done much worse.

There is but one fair and square

THE RIGHT WORD
IN RIGHT PLACE

One Can Acquire the Knack of Using Correct Language.

Have you the magic of the necessary word?

If not, why not?

The Evening Standard and Morning Examiner are at present offering to you the opportunity of obtaining to what degree you will the faculty of free expression of thought through the use of an extensive vocabulary, which has brought fame and fortune to many noted men.

Many fortunes have been made and may be made from words. The Evening Standard and Morning Examiner in offering to you Webster's New Standard Dictionary Illustrated is supplying you with the mine, which, when operated by you, will certainly better your fortune through increasing your ability of expression, add much to your enjoyment of life, and perhaps bring you the success which you covet.

Theodore Roosevelt recently received $2 a word for a series of articles. Rudyard Kipling has acquired a fund of words that gives him invariably the right word in the right place. Conan Doyle's powerful descriptive style is merely a structure of words rightly understood and rightly applied, and each of these Englishmen received from 50 cents to $1 a word every time he sent an article.

Rufus Choate, the most successful jury advocate of his time, refused to enter the court room until he had found a new word for use in that day's speech. You will find many new words between the covers of the book offered you. Senator Ingalls, the most powerful orator of the Fifth Congress, when asked how he acquired his wonderful command of language replied:

"For years I have made a practice of searching the dictionary for words that are new to me, and then using them in conversation and public speaking."

The opportunity of which these men have taken advantage is open to you. Compare your limited success with your limited vocabulary and you may see your failure in a new light, and realize why you do not have the same chance as the man with the more fluent speech and apt way of expressing his thought.

Many a man is fettered by the limitations of scanty vocabulary, who might otherwise have been successful. Great ideas and great schemes avail nothing if they remain locked within a brain through the inability of their author to correctly express them.

If you are hampered by a limited library, get busy and pay a month's subscription in advance and get a copy of Webster's New Standard Dictionary Illustrated. Keep it at your elbow in your office or in your home and use it constantly. Do not pass a word you do not understand when you are reading or listening to a sermon or lecture—look it up in the dictionary and you will find that your fund of general information and your vocabulary will grow more ample and you will be worth more to yourself, to your employer and to your friends.

The distribution of dictionaries has proved such a popular idea that the clerks in the Dictionary department are being kept busy all day long showing the books to those who are anxious to see what they are going to get as soon as they have paid a month's subscription in advance.

For increasing the vocabulary the books would be hard to beat, for their convenient size and compactness render all of them ready for reference. No. 1 is a beautiful book bound in limp leather like a Bible. No. 2 is half leather binding. No. 3 is bound in plain cloth. There are 1,000 synonyms and antonyms in the dictionary.

OGDEN-SALT LAKE
SERIES IN DOUBT

The delicate rose-hued prospects of a series between Ogden and Salt Lake and the Salt Lake team of the Union association took on a sickly yellow yesterday when the local promoters received a telegram announcing Manager Dick Cooley's terms for a series of five games, the first to be played next Thursday afternoon and ending with a double-header on Sunday afternoon.

This message was received by Charlie Freine and conveyed the information that Manager Cooley was perfectly willing to allow the Ogden boys 35 per cent of the gross receipts for the series as above mentioned. Freine promptly answered the message, stating that the Ogden players could not think of playing on such terms.

way to play this series. Play one or two games in this city, allow 15 per cent of the gross receipts for the park in each case and divide the remainder equally between the two clubs. It is also quite probable that the Ogden players would consent to divide the net receipts 50 and 40 per cent on the result of the individual games or series.

Manager Cooley claims to have had a post-season series with McCloskey's Butte team for next week. Salt Lake fans have probably seen about all of the Butte team, as well as the other Union association clubs, that they care for this season. Cooley realizes that the fast Ogden club, which has trimmed every team obtainable since the state league blew up, would be a real drawing card when hooked up with his Union bunch.

He fully appreciates this, but at the same time he is willing to grant the Junction City club the marvellous slice of 35 per cent of the gate receipts. Is Mr. Cooley a little worried as to the outcome of a meeting between his team and Gimlin's bunch? "Business" is pausing for answer.

ROCK CRUSHER ON COUNTY ROADS

A representative of this paper accompanied Oscar Madison, chairman of the board of county commissioners, to the canyon yesterday morning, where the county rock crusher is making macadam for use in the improvement of the road extending from a point near Huntsville to Idelwild.

An Aurora rock crusher, with elevator and tubular screens, has been put in operation near Idelwild. The rock is crushed, the elevator carries it to the screens, which divide the broken pieces into three bins, according to the size of the pieces. The bin is built upon the hillside in such a manner that the wagons may be filled with the rock in a few seconds from the chutes. About twenty men are working at this point, mostly prisoners who have been sentenced to hard labor. Commissioner Madison recently purchased a 30-horsepower motor from Charles Humphris for $100, which originally cost $700. Electricians say that the motor is still in first-class condition.

Twelve teams are at work hauling the rock to the hillside entrance Huntsville. One-eighth of a mile of macadamized roadway is already completed. The steam roller is being used in making the road. The macadam is being placed eight inches thick and twelve feet wide and at a cost of approximately 25 cents per square yard. The teams at work are paid $2.50 per day and make three trips from the crusher to the road.

Commissioner Madison is taking great pride in this particular stretch of road and it will be an ideal piece of highway. As soon as the three miles is completed the scene of road-building will be shifted to other parts of the county where the people have voted tax assessment for the purpose of improving the roads.

Of the $200,000 bond voted by the state for the improvement of its roads, Weber county receives $14,000. The county commissioners are handling the funds economically and are doing good work on the roads.

In taking the reporter in an automobile from Twenty-fourth street north on Harrison avenue the newspaper man came near being thrown from the car two times because of holes in the road, which have existed for four months. The city supervisor covers this same piece of ground every day.

In commenting on these bad places in the road Commissioner Madison said: "You may think that I drove fast over those bumps so that you would take particular attention to their presence. You are right—I did. I thought it might cause you to interest the mayor in the condition of this street and have him jack up the city street commissioner about it."

THE UTAH BAPTIST

SOUTHERN UTAH
ATTORNEY HERE

Attorney E. H. Ryan of Cedar City is in Ogden attending to legal business; he having come up from the city of iron and coal yesterday evening. Mr. Ryan states that Cedar City and southern Utah have a great future before them, there being more natural resources there than in any other part of the state. He says that a railroad is what is needed at this time and he thinks it is a question of only a short time when the road from Lund will be built to Cedar and from there south through Kanarra, Tropic, St. George and on to the great gorge of the grand canyon of the Colorado river.

JUDGE KING AT

SECRETARY FISHER
COMING TO OGDEN

SEATTLE, Sept. 5.—Secretary of the Interior Fisher and his party left for Ellensburg, Wash., on a special Northern Pacific late tonight, after a banquet at the Commercial club, where he was the guest of honor. Tomorrow he will make a short stay at Ellensburg to inspect irrigation projects and then go to North Yakima, where he will go over the allotment of lands in the Yakima Indian reservation. From North Yakima Mr. Fisher will proceed to Yellowstone Park. After his park trip the secretary will go from Boise to Ogden and Salt Lake and then to California.

It was expected by some that Mr. Fisher would outline his Alaska policy tonight, but he did not do so.

In Norway a bill is being discussed in parliament, which, if adopted, will largely meet the situation regarding the seamen's strike.
